A Message From President Hughes

The men's basketball program is integral to the University's athletic endeavors, just as the athletic program is integral to our view of education — which is that education should develop the whole person.

This program moved from NCAA Division II to Division I in 1979, and each year has seen increasing strength and competitive capabilities in the USD team. The University is proud of the team's accomplishments, and pleased to support the program in every way possible, including scholarship aid to our athletes, recognition of the values of the program, and promotion of intercollegiate athletics. I believe our USD team will be receiving some national attention this year, and I look forward to watching the season's events unfold.

TOM IANNAZONE

Tom Iannacone begins his second year as the University of San Diego director of athletics. He assumed the position September 1, 1988 after a nationwide search for a successor to Rev. Patrick Cahill. The 48-year-old Iannacone has made great strides in his first year. His accomplishments at USD include an ongoing internal reorganization of the athletic department, plus improvements in the major areas of new personnel, additional scholarship assistance and facilities improvements.

Iannacone came to the University of San Diego with an impressive list of credentials and a thorough knowledge of inter-collegiate athletics. Prior to USD he was Director of Athletics for four years at St. Francis College in Loretto, Pennsylvania.

Hard work, loyalty and dedication are just some of the words that easily describe Iannacone. His major contributions at St.

Francis included the expansion of sports offerings and scholarships for both men and women, improved budgets, renovation of athletic facilities, the hiring of additional staff, and the establishment of a master plan for the future and continual development of athletics. He served on several ECAC Metro Conference committees, most notably the committee on conference development, which developed a plan for the future and implemented the position for a full-time commissioner.

Prior to his tenure at St. Francis, Iannacone served as assistant athletic director at Fordham University from 1977-84. Along with his administrative duties at Fordham, he was an assistant football coach for the Rams. From 1975-78, he acted as offensive coordinator and backfield coach as Fordham captured 19 victories in their final 24 games during this span. The 1977 squad was and remains the highest scoring team in Fordham history, averaging 34 points per game.

In 1983 Iannacone was presented the prestigious Jack Coffey Award by the Alumni Association for outstanding contributions to Fordham athletics. He has also served on various Metro Atlantic Conference committees.

Prior to Fordham, Iannacone taught physical education and coached track and football in the Ridgefield, Norwalk and New Milford (CT) school districts from 1964-76. He made his collegiate football coaching debut as an offensive backfield coach at Western Connecticut State University in 1974.

A 1964 graduate of the University of Connecticut, Iannacone received his master of science degree in physical education from Southern Connecticut State University in 1973. Tom and his wife, Cynthia, have three children: Tom Jr., Jennifer and Eric.

SAN DIEGO HEAD COACH HANK EGAN

Head Coach Hank Egan begins his sixth season at the helm of the USD basketball program. He has tallied an impressive five-year record at San Diego of 78-63, and a 51-19 mark in the USD Sports Center. With 18 seasons as a Division I head coach behind him, Hank will enter the 1989-90 season with an overall record of 226-248.

Coach Egan found the 1988-89 season a challenging one as his thirteen-man roster, which included five freshmen and five sophomores, finished the season with an overall record of 8-20 and 2-12 mark in the West Coast Conference (tied for 7th with Portland). His young squad opened some eyes early in the season when they got off to a 3-0 start. The team took home the championship trophy from the New Mexico Tipoff Tournament in Albuquerque after the young Toreros stunned host New Mexico 64-53 in the infamous 'Pit.'

In 1986-87 Coach Egan guided the Toreros to the first round of the NCAA Tournament. With a tough 62-61 loss to Auburn University in the tournament's first round, the USD men's basketball team completed its most successful season ever with a 24-6 record. Along the way USD won fourteen consecutive games and won the regular season West Coast Conference championship with a 13-1 record. His peers from the WCC voted him the 1986-87 Coach of the Year. In 1985-86 he guided the Toreros to a fine record of 19-9 and was named Co-Coach of the Year in the WCC, sharing the honor with UCLA's Jim Harrick (formerly of Pepperdine University).

A recognized expert in the technical aspects of the game, Hank has an impeccable reputation for integrity, and is a coach who "gets the most" out of his players. Acknowledged as one of the finest defensive coaches in the nation, good defense is a trademark with Egan-coached teams. His 1986-87 team finished #1 in the nation in field goal percentage defense (40.1%) and in the top-ten in scoring defense (60.3). His 1985-86 team finished 8th in the nation in FG% defense, limiting opponents to 42.4% shooting. Prior to USD, Hank coached at the United States Air Force Academy in Colorado Springs for eighteen years, thirteen as the head coach. Highlights of his coaching career include his 1986-87 club that finished 24-6 and participated in the NCAA Tournament, his 1985-86 team that finished 19-9, and his 16-9 Air Force club from 1976. As evidence of the high regard in which he is held by his colleagues and basketball people in general, Hank was the alternate coach to George Raveling (USC) for the 1984 United States Olympic Basketball team; he was a coach in the Olympic tryouts in Bloomington, Indiana, and also scouted South American Olympic teams in San Paulo, Brazil; he is a member of the Legislative Commission of the National Basketball Coaches Association of America; and, was one of only ten coaches chosen in 1984 by the NCAA to participate and represent the country's coaches in a special meeting of Presidents, Athletic Directors, and Faculty Representatives called to study the strengthening of academic requirements for intercollegiate athletics. Before becoming the second head coach in Air Force basketball history, Egan was the freshman mentor for two seasons and was chief scout and recruiter during the 1970-71 season. From 1966 to 1968, he was an assistant junior varsity coach. A three-time basketball letterman at Navy, he also played several seasons on Air Force service teams and has coached on both the military and AAU levels. Hank graduated from the Naval Academy in 1960 with a Bachelor of Science degree in Engineering. His hobbies include golf, racquetball, reading and crossword puzzles. Hank and his wife Judy have two children, John and Kelly.

RANDY BENNETT

Randy Bennett begins his second year at the University of San Diego as a full-time assistant to coach Hank Egan.

With the recent departure of assistant Mike Legarza, Randy will be given additional responsibilities in the areas of recruiting, scouting and on-court coaching.

Prior to his 1988 appointment at the University of San Diego, Randy coached two seasons (1986-88) with the University of Idaho as a part-time assistant. Their 1987-88 team finished 19-11 and second in the Big Sky Conference. Before his stint with Idaho, he was a volunteer assistant at USD (1985-86) while finishing his undergraduate degree at the University of California, San Diego. The past three summers he has directed Hank Egan's boys basketball camps.

A 1986 graduate of UC San Diego, Randy received his B.S. degree in Animal Physiology. He played two years of basketball at UC San Diego (1983-85) and two years at Mesa Community College (1980-82) in Mesa, AZ under his dad, Tom Bennett. In his two years at Mesa, the team went 56-10 and made it to the nationals his freshman year.

Randy, currently working on his M.A. in teaching, is single and resides in San Diego.

GUS MAGEE

Gus enters his 20th season as a member of the University of San Diego coaching staff. He began his coaching career in 1970 as a graduate assistant to Bernie Bickerstaff while pursuing his Master's Degree in Social Science. He joined former USD coach Jim Brovelli in 1973.

Gus also completed his undergraduate degree at the University of San Diego and was a top basketball player here after completing his tour of duty with the U.S. Air Force. Gus played here from 1966-70, his first three years under legendary coach Phil Woolpert, and his final campaign with Bernie Bickerstaff. With him at center the Toreros had a 53-48 record. He was twice selected the team's most valuable player, in 1968-69 and again in 1969-70. He still holds most of the USD rebounding records including career boards (948), most in a single game (24), and the single season rebounding average (14.4).

Gus was the first USD alumnus to be inducted into the USD Basketball Hall of Fame. He takes great pride in being involved with USD basketball since 1966 and in helping it to grow from a small college program to its current status as a member of the NCAA Division One ranks and the West Coast Conference.

He is currently an Administrative Analyst with the San Diego Public Library System. Gus and his wife Faye have one son, Mark.

1989-1990 UNIVERSITY OF SAN DIEGO OUTLOOK

Peruse the University of San Diego men's basketball roster, and you might notice the prevalence of two things: AZ's and hyphens. This, plus a reputable corps of returning lettermen, is why the Toreros will be good this season.

It's been a long two years for Coach Hank Egan and his staff since the Scott Thompson-led Toreros finished 24-6, won the conference and were invited to the NCAA Tournament. In 1987-88, they finished 11-17. Last season, 8-20.

"Last year was probably the toughest I've ever had coaching," admits Egan, in his sixth season at USD. "We were so close in so many games, but we couldn't ever get over the hump. In all my years of coaching, I don't know if I've ever had so much newness."

A brief historical lesson: The '86-87 team was top-heavy with seniors (including four of five starters). A subsequent NCAA rule change regarding academic requirements for community college transfers made it difficult for Egan to fill the void with anything but true freshmen. And youth did not equal victories.

But all that is about to change. Egan has experience, AZ's and hyphens. AZ, of course, is the abbreviation for Arizona. Five of the team's nine new faces this season hail from the state, and four played at Mesa Community College (in suburban Phoenix) sometime during their career.

The hyphens appear next to multiple-position players, as in G-F (guard-forward) or F-C (forward-center). More than ever, Egan's players are athletic and versatile. More than one player can handle the ball, more than one can shoot, more than one can rebound, more than one can play defense. Most can do all of the above.

"We have more players who can do a lot of things," Egan says. "I intend to set up a system based not on their position but on their personal capabilities."

And that will mean running and pressing. Running and pressing? The Toreros?

Yes. The '86-87 team, led by the 7-foot Thompson, was based on size and power. It played position defense that rarely extended beyond midcourt. It employed a walk-it-up, almost plodding halfcourt offense that pounded the ball inside. "Since we could rely on that, we never had to worry about running," Egan says.

The increased athleticism and versatility afford Egan the luxury of extending the defense. Extending the defense, in turn, induces the running game. The Toreros won't run and press with the reckless abandon of conference-mate Loyola Marymount, but at times the heads of fans will swivel like at a tennis match.

Even subtle changes in a team's philosophy take time to implement and develop, and Egan has had nothing but new faces the past two years. Last season, in fact, ten of the Toreros were either freshmen or sophomores.

But those freshmen and sophomores are sophomores and juniors now. In addition, two of the transfers, 6-8 senior John Jerome and 6-4 junior Anthony Thomas, sat out last season and practiced with the team. So to them only the uniforms will be new, not Egan's system.

Just three lettermen were lost. Guards Danny Means and Efrem Leonard ran out of eligibility, and junior guard Kelvin Means, Danny's younger brother, transferred to Fresno State to play Division I football.

Eight lettermen are back—including three starters from a year ago—senior forward Craig Cottrell, junior center Dondi Bell and sophomore guard Gylan Dottin, the conference's co-freshman of the year. And there are other solid returnees that started at some point last season: Wayman Strickland, Keith Colvin, Kelvin Woods and Randy Thompson.

To this, add the Mesa connection: Jerome, Thomas, guard Pat Holbert and forward-center Shawn Hamilton. Holbert and Hamilton, both juniors, were teammates at Mesa last season. Thomas broke the single-season scoring record there the year before, and Jerome was a JC All-American there before transferring to Arizona State in 1987.

The Mesa connection is no coincidence. The academics meet the NCAA's new transfer requirements, Egan admires Coach Tom Bennett's program, and USD has successfully recruited other Mesa players. "When you come right down to it," Egan says, "the single best sell at a school is the players themselves. If the kids like it, they'll sell it. Pete Murphy (1984-86) and Mark Manor (1985-87) both went to Mesa, then came here and had good experiences."

In addition, Egan has a freshman class that he rates "equally good" as its predecessor, but one that won't be forced to produce so much so quickly. It is also a class with local ties: 6-8 Brooks Barnhard played at Escondido High, 6-4 Joe Temple played at Lincoln Prep, and 6-3 Neal Meyer lived in San Diego before moving to how'd you guess? Arizona.

"I like our kids," Egan says. "I think there's a chance for us to be a much improved ball club. I really feel we're better at every position than last year."

BACKCOURT

The big change here will be in Dottin's presence. Dottin spent as much time at forward as guard last season, but Egan plans to establish his 6-5 super soph as a guard because "he handles the ball so well and thinks of other people first." Two other players battling for the other guard spot include returnee Wayman Strickland and newcomer Pat Holbert. Strickland, an off-guard in high school, should put the finishing touches on his transition to point guard. He averaged 8.1 ppg and led the team in steals with 38 his rookie season. The 6-3 Holbert, co-MVP at Mesa last season can handle the ball in traffic and shoot the three-pointer.

And Meyer, Egan says, "is an excellent, excellent shooter," as his .624 field goal percentage at Chaparral HS (Scottsdale, AZ) attests. Rounding out the backcourt is 6-2 freshman Eric Lochtefeld, a walk-on from Westmont High in Campbell, CA. Geoff Probst, a 5-11 sophomore guard, will sit out this season after transferring from UC Davis.

FRONT COURT

The frontline can only get better. Everyone returns from last season and, as if that wasn't enough, there is incoming talent. The 6-5 Cottrell, a senior co-captain with Jerome, spent most of the summer in the weight room and, Egan says, "You'll be amazed at the difference it made." Craig was USD's leading scorer at 12.2 ppg and led the WCC in field goal percentage at .647.

Bell, the team's biggest player at 6-9, 240 pounds, started 16 games last season and led the WCC in blocked shots (55). He was the most improved player from the previous season and Egan looks for even more improvement, "especially on the defensive end and rebounding." When Bell wasn't starting at center, the 6-8 Colvin was. Like Cottrell, Colvin made regular visits to the weight room this summer.

A pleasant surprise at the end of the season was Kelvin Woods, who showed that he is equally effective on the perimeter or inside with his 6-5, 230-pound frame. Also returning are two 6-6 swingmen: Randy Thompson, who Egan describes as "very knowledgeable of the game of basketball," and Carlos Carrillo, a fine outside shooter.

Don't let Jerome's size (6-8, 225) fool you. He is one of the team's best outside shooters. Egan, who tried to recruit him out of high school and again at Mesa, is just happy to have Jerome, if only with one year of eligibility remaining. Thomas, a junior, is a superior athlete who plays much bigger than his 6-4 listing and will get time at small forward. Hamilton, also from Mesa, is an excellent post defender. "That was our deficiency last year," Egan says, "and Shawn fills the gap if we're having problems down there."

Unlike last year's freshmen, Barnhard will have time to develop as a post player without the pressures of contributing immediately. And Temple, Egan says, "is as good an athlete as I've ever had," and is expected to contribute at small forward.

WEST COAST CONFERENCE

The Toreros play a nonconference schedule that includes road games against San Diego State, St. John's (at St. John's Tournament) and UCLA. But Egan says what the team is really looking toward are the conference games and ensuing tournament at Loyola Marymount.

That's how competitive the West Coast Conference has become. It is now known simply as the WCC (the "Athletic" from West Coast Athletic Conference has been dropped) and as one of the nation's better collection of basketball programs. Four teams last season won 20 games and only two had losing records overall. Not so coincidentally, four teams were invited to postseason tournaments—LMU and St. Mary's to the NCAA, Pepperdine and Santa Clara to the NIT.

The Toreros finished a dismal, but deceiving, 2-12 in conference play. The first six losses were all by six points or less. In the first round of the conference tournament, they lost to second-seeded Pepperdine, 72-69.

"Hopefully," Egan says, "with maturity we'll win our share of those close games this season." And probably a few more.

“AMERICA’S FINEST CITY”

San Diego is truly “America’s Finest City.” A modern metropolis (second largest in California) and a popular year-round resort, San Diego spreads from the coast to the desert, including cliffs, mesas, hills, canyons and valleys. San Diego also surrounds one of California’s greatest natural harbors which has been a dominant factor in determining the city’s history, economy and development.

As home of the largest naval air station on the west coast, the Federal government ranks first in economic importance to the city with the aerospace equipment industry second. Tourism closely follows as third. Business and pleasure coexist in harmony in San Diego. The climate, attractive setting and recreational facilities make San Diego “America’s Finest City.”

According to Sports Illustrated, “For sheer numbers of participants, diversity of pursuits of involvement, San Diego must rank as the sports and fitness capital of the U.S.” Sports are a major feature of the San Diego lifestyle. One can sail, swim, surf, scuba dive, snorkel, wind-surf on 70 miles of public beach or golf at any of the over 50 golf courses throughout the county. Balboa Park, a 1,158-acre recreation and cultural center, offers 25 tennis courts, two gymnasiums, two municipal golf courses and one of the nation’s finest zoos. Mission Bay Park is a 4,600-acre playground for jogging, fishing, bicycling, tennis, golf and kite flying.

As well as participating in recreational activities, San Diego supports their professional teams — the Chargers in football, the Padres in baseball and the Sockers in soccer. Whatever sporting activity there is, it’s here in San Diego — the sports capital of the U.S.A.

UNIVERSITY PROFILE

The University of San Diego is an independent, Catholic university located on a 170-acre mesa overlooking Mission Bay, San Diego Harbor, and the Pacific Ocean. The campus is named Alcala Park after the Spanish university town where St. Didacus (i.e., Diego) spent much of his time.

Complementing its splendid natural setting is the University's location just 10 minutes from downtown San Diego — conveniently close to the major business, cultural, residential, and recreational areas, as well as the rail, bus and air terminals.

Founded in 1949, USD is presently experiencing record attendance. Undergraduate enrollment stands at 3800, graduate students bring the overall campus enrollment to 5800.

The University includes a College of Arts and Sciences, and Schools of Business Administration, Education, Nursing, and Law. Each is characterized by high academic standards, small classes, and excellent student-faculty relations.

Though the majority of students come from the West Coast, every region of the United States is well-represented on campus. Students also attend USD from 24 foreign countries.

In January of 1987, USD opened the doors to its new University Center, a 74,500 square foot building for students, faculty and staff. The two-level Center is the largest building on campus. It is the seventh major project completed at USD during the past nine years. It's a place for people to meet for leisure and fun, a place for extracurricular activities.

Recreation, intramural and athletic activities are expanding rapidly. Among the many recreation and intramural programs offered, some of the favorites include: Mission Bay Aquatic Center activities (water skiing, surfing, sailing, crew), modern dance, aerobics, bowling, karate, backpacking, softball, tennis, floor hockey and volleyball.

USD intercollegiate sports for men include football, soccer, cross country, basketball, baseball, crew, tennis and golf. In women's intercollegiate sports, USD fields programs in volleyball, cross country, swimming, basketball, softball, crew and tennis.

THE WEST COAST CONFERENCE

It's now a shorter distance to two points in the West Coast Conference.

On July 13, 1989, the 38-year-old league streamlined itself by applying an eraser to the old "West Coast Athletic Conference" title used since 1956. Dropping the word "Athletic" simplified a somewhat cumbersome name while clarifying the league's image and position in collegiate basketball.

"West Coast Conference accurately describes us," Commissioner Michael Gilleran said when announcing the change. "It makes our name easier to say and sharpens our image, all while maintaining the tradition we've built. We did not want to make a revolutionary change."

Of course, with all the added attention WCC hoop teams have been garnering of late, the shorter name is easier for everyone to say and write. And everyone is talking and writing more and more about the WCC.

TOUGH YEAR TO TOP

The conference is coming off its most successful season in history. Four WCC members took part in post-season tournaments in 1988-89 and all four won at least 20 games. It was the first season the WCC had placed four clubs in tournaments and the first time four squads had attained the magical 20th win. Regular season Champion St. Mary's rolled to a 25-5 record and its first NCAA bid in 30 years. Loyola Marymount, 20-11, set new national records for scoring average (112.5) and points in a game (181) enroute to winning their second straight league tournament with the accompanying NCAA bid. Santa Clara, 20-11, and Pepperdine, 20-13, earned their second straight entries to the National Invitation Tournament (NIT).

THE MEMBERS—PRESENT AND PAST

The WCC is made up of eight private institutions spanning the three Western states from the borders of Canada to Mexico. The membership—Gonzaga University, Loyola Marymount University, Pepperdine University, the University of Portland, St. Mary's College, the University of San Diego, the University of San Francisco and Santa Clara University has changed over the years, but the current alignment has remained intact for the longest stretch since its inception in 1952.

The league started up that year as the "California Basketball Association," an alliance of San Francisco Bay Area schools. Charter members St. Mary's, San Francisco and Santa Clara remain in the alignment, with original members Pacific and San Jose State having departed in the early 1970s. The conference expanded from five to eight schools in 1956 with the addition of current members Loyola Marymount and Pepperdine, along with Fresno State, which left the league in 1958. It was during that initial expansion that the old WCAC got its name.

Several other schools have owned membership in the WCC including UC Santa Barbara (1965-69), Nevada-Las Vegas (1969-75), Nevada-Reno (1969-79), and Seattle (1971-80). Portland joined the conference in 1977, followed by San Diego and Gonzaga in 1980. All together, 15 different schools have competed in the WCC at some point.

TRADITION

The WCC has deep roots into the glory days of basketball and the league has owned an automatic bid to the NCAA tournament since its first year as the CBA and eight different members have won the title at least once. San Francisco leads the way with 15 league title banners and a pair of back-to-back national championships won by the likes of Bill Russell and K.C. Jones in 1955 and 1956. Other legendary names from the past include Phil Smith, Dennis Johnson, Darwin Cook, Tom Meschery, Kurt Rambis, Bill Cartwright and John Stockton, all of whom warred on WCC courts in the college days. A young fellow named Pete Rozelle once served as sports information director at USF.

San Francisco	34 years	15 titles
Pepperdine	34 years	7 titles
Santa Clara	37 years	7 titles
St. Mary's	37 years	3 titles
Loyola Marymount	34 years	2 titles
San Diego	9 years	1 title
Portland	13 years	0 titles
Gonzaga	9 years	0 titles

PITCHES, DIAMONDS, COURTS AND COURSES

While basketball gets most of the attention, it's not the only WCC sport. In fact, the conference is gaining recognition as one of the top soccer leagues in the country. Portland helped spur some of that notoriety by holding down the number two spot in the national rankings for most of last year. At one point, three WCC members—Portland, San Francisco and Santa Clara—resided in the Top 10. USF has won the national championship five times.

Baseball is also another power sport in the WCC and multiple entries into the NCAA tournament are becoming the rule. Pepperdine has won six straight league titles with Loyola Marymount and Santa Clara in hot pursuit. All three recently have been in the national rankings, as well as in NCAA tournament play. Countless players have gone on to professional baseball careers after playing collegiately in the WCC.

This is the fifth season of WCC women's sports, and the third with conference membership mirroring the men's league. Gonzaga, Portland and St. Mary's upgraded their programs to the Division One level just two years ago. The Bulldogs won the women's basketball title in their first Division One season. St. Mary's won it last year in their second. Portland has captured the cross country crown in each of the last two years.

NATIONAL CHAMPIONS

Current WCC members have won 12 NCAA team championships. USF has eight titles (five in soccer, two in basketball, one in tennis), followed by Pepperdine with three (volleyball) and Gonzaga with one (boxing).

Pepperdine has three individual tennis champions and Gonzaga has a trio of boxing winners. San Francisco has won individual championships in tennis and fencing while Loyola Marymount won an individual track title. San Diego picked up a pair of Division Two team tennis crowns and Pepperdine won two track awards prior to joining the WCC. Portland captured its first national title in 1986, in NAIA cross country. St. Mary's also won the NAIA soccer championship that year.

The conference sponsors championships in cross country (men and women), baseball, basketball (men and women), golf (men), soccer (men), tennis (men and women) and volleyball (women).

MEDIA INFORMATION

All requests for media credentials should be made at least one week in advance to Ted Gosen, Sports Information Director. Passes will be mailed if time permits, or may be left at Will Call.

You will be furnished with cumulative statistics and programs before the game and visiting S.I.D.'s will be requested to provide stats. During the game you will receive play-by-plays, shot charts, a half-time box, and a final box. Coaches and players will be available for interviews approximately 10 minutes after the game.

Media will be sitting at floor level along courtside, the same side as both of the teams.

One phone and fax machine are available on a first-come, first-serve basis. Two phones are available for visiting radio teams. Billing for the use of the phones will be at a later date. The phone numbers are (619) 278-0617 and (619) 292-4976.

The phone number for the S.I.D. operation on press row is (619) 278-0648.

Media interested in interviewing either the coaches or players, or in attending practices, please contact Ted Gosen at (619) 260-4745.
